

Having tried to get accurate timely road and weather reports for cities along the east coast, and not finding any that cover the roads that I am using I usually go by chance. But since I started using XM radio I now have very good information on the roads that I need to know about and do not have to wait forever for the information.